MEMORANDUM

TO: Heads and Acting Heads of Departments and Agencies

FROM: Charles Ezell, Acting Director, U.S. Office of Personnel Management

DATE: February 24, 2025

RE: Guidance on Career Reserved SES Positions and Agency Redesignation Requests

I. Overview

In his January 20, 2025, Presidential Memorandum entitled *Restoring Accountability for Career Senior Executives* (“SES Accountability”), President Trump directed agencies to, consistent with law, “reassign agency SES members to ensure their knowledge, skills, abilities, and mission assignment are optimally aligned” to implement the President’s policy priorities.

Further, in its February 4, 2025 memorandum entitled *Guidance Regarding Redesignating SES CIO Positions*, and its February 5, 2025 memorandum entitled *Maintaining the Integrity of the Career Senior Executive Service*, the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (“OPM”) provided guidance to agencies relating to reclassifications of career reserved Senior Executive Service (“SES”) positions as general.

Now, OPM is issuing this guidance memorandum to provide wider, programmatic guidance across the entire SES.

Attached to this memorandum is a recent list of government-wide career reserved positions in the federal government. Agencies are requested to, by March 24, 2025:

1. Develop a revised, proposed list of career reserved positions at the agency, consistent with agency organic statutes and the below guidance; and
2. Submit a single request to OPM (allocation-management@opm.gov) to redesignate each current career reserved position that does not appear on the proposed list.

II. Analysis

SES positions are designated either “general” or “career reserved.” General positions may be filled by either career or noncareer appointees, while career reserved positions may only be filled by career appointees. By law, there must be at least 3,571 career reserved positions government-wide, the number of positions “authorized to be filled only through competitive civil service examination” at the time of the creation of the SES. 5 U.S.C. § 3133; 5 C.F.R. § 214.402(e).

Over the past four years, without apparent good reason, that number of SES positions designated as career reserved has grown rapidly and is now roughly double the minimum. The most recent publication of OPM's government-wide list of career reserved positions may be found at 89 FR 45054, and Appendix A provides a more recent snapshot of that data set.

As noted in our February 4, 2025 memorandum Guidance Regarding Redesignating SES CIO Positions, Congress was clear that “a position shall be designated as a career reserved position only if the filling of the position by a career appointee is necessary to ensure impartiality, or the public's confidence in the impartiality, of the Government.”<sup>1</sup> To be sure, some positions throughout government are statutorily designated career reserved. And a number of current career reserved positions are for job duties which are ministerial, or which might benefit from continuity across political administrations.

However, OPM believes that many of the current career reserved positions across the federal government are not the sort of technical positions appropriate for career reserved status.<sup>2</sup> For example, over 200 of these career-reserved positions include the term “policy” within their title. A number are at the deputy assistant secretary level in an office with no general SES position at the deputy assistant secretary level. And there are even career reserved positions at the assistant secretary level whose peers in similar functions elsewhere in government are presidentially appointed with Senate confirmation. In these situations, major policies of the President or agency head are filtered through appointees with reduced democratic accountability.

These practices are inconsistent with the history of and statutory framework for the SES. The SES was “intended to create a link between the politically appointed leadership of agencies and career civil servants,” not to supplant that leadership.<sup>3</sup> Career SES appointees throughout the federal government provide critical experience and guidance across administrations, helping to ensure that institutional knowledge is not lost. This is particularly true where job duties involve application of management principles without regard to policy area but can also be true in policymaking areas. Yet while agency leadership can and frequently do leverage career staff in such situations, they should have maximum flexibility in opting for non-career officials to carry out presidential priorities.

III. Agency Lists of Career Reserved Positions and Redesignation Requests

To ensure that agencies have appropriately delineated between general and career reserved SES positions, agencies shall submit to OPM at allocation-management@opm.gov, by March 24, 2025, 1) a revised, proposed list of career reserved SES positions at the agency; and 2) a list of requested redesignations of career reserved SES positions (consistent with agency regulations and organic statutes). In developing this list, agencies should include, at a minimum:

1. all such career reserved positions at the assistant secretary level or above;

2. all such career reserved positions at the principal deputy assistant secretary level or above;
3. all such career reserved positions at the deputy assistant secretary level or above, where there is no general schedule SES position at the deputy assistant secretary level in that component or office; and
4. any SES positions that were designated as general SES positions on January 19, 2021.

For the purposes of this guidance, “assistant secretary” shall include assistant Attorney Generals, General Counsels, and Directors of program offices who directly report to an agency head. For any of the enumerated positions above which are permitted by agency regulation and organic statute to be classed as general schedule SES, but which the agency head has good reasons not to so class, the agency shall provide those reasons.

In its biennial review of agency SES plans under 5 U.S.C. § 3133, OPM shall not approve plans that propose for inclusion, under § 3133(b)(2), positions as career-reserved in a manner inconsistent with this guidance, absent good reason. Following collection of these requests, OPM shall, consistent with its statutory and regulatory obligations, engage in a review and approval process.
