Memorandum For Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies

From: Dale Cabaniss
 Director

Subject: Certifying the Use of a Merit Personnel System as Required by the Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) of 1970

Recently, Governor Bevin of Kentucky asked the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) how the Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) of 1970¹ regulates the applicable Federal standards for the administration of a Merit System of Personnel Administration.

The IPA and its implementing regulations require states to administer certain federally funded and state-administered grant-in-aid programs through a system of personnel administration consistent with merit principles.² The IPA's intent is to limit improper administration of programs. The law does not specify how a state may implement its system, nor prohibit any particular approach. The IPA and its regulations require a system of personnel administration consistent with merit-based principles without directing particular means of satisfying that requirement.

In response to Governor Bevin's inquiry, OPM published a notice in the Federal Register on April 19, 2019 (84 Fed. Reg. 16,381) clarifying the discretion of state chief executives to determine appropriate staffing methods including the use of contractors.

Purpose:

The purpose of the notice is to clarify that the IPA and its implementing regulations are satisfied if the chief executive of a state or local jurisdiction certifies that the system of personnel administration for a federally-funded, state administered, grant-in-aid program is satisfied when the government employees utilized in the administration of the program are in a personnel system that complies with the standards set forth in 5 C.F.R. Part 900. This does not preclude the same program from utilizing contractors consistent with any applicable state law requirements.

Jurisdiction:

The IPA, at 42 USC § 4728, Transfer of Functions, transferred to OPM the authority to prescribe personnel standards on a merit basis for the federally-funded and state-administered programs listed at subsections (a)(1) through (a)(4). These subsections clarify that the transfer of authority affects both specific programs such as Medicaid and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program as well as “any other provision of law or regulation applicable to a program of grant-in-aid that specifically requires the establishment and maintenance of personnel standards on a merit basis with respect to the program.”

¹ Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) of 1970, as amended, 42 USC Section 4701

Affected Programs:

This notice affects the listed programs as well as other programs not listed that require personnel standards on a merit basis. These include:

Employment Security (Unemployment Insurance and Employment Services), Social Security Act (Title III), as amended; and the Wagner-Peyser Act, as amended; 42 U.S.C. § 503(a)(1) and 29 U.S.C. § 49d(b)

State and Community Programs on Aging (Older Americans), Older Americans Act of 1965 (Title III), as amended; 42 U.S.C. § 3027(a)(4)

Consistent with 42 USC § 4728, this notice supersedes any prior OPM or relevant agency notices, regulations, or administrative guidance to state and local governments that could be construed to interpret the IPA, or OPM’s implementing regulations at 5 CFR Part 900, as prescribing the use of a particular staffing method. OPM does not interpret the IPA or its implementing regulations at 5 CFR Part 900 to require the use of a particular staffing method. Except where other statutory provisions require, by express language, staffing by state or local employees for particular purposes, a state or local agency has the discretion to determine the most appropriate staffing method.

Restrictions:

Federal government agencies shall not define a requirement to use personnel standards on a merit basis as a requirement to use government employees.

Required Guidance Changes:

There is no change in the state certification to OPM. Agency heads shall conform existing guidance or issue new guidance to their regional offices and state chief executives, consistent with this memo, within 120 days.
